MULTI MEETS POLY: Multiculturalism and Polyculturalism Go on a First Date

New Online Video Play Explores Two Powerful Ideas Shaping Our World Today

For those of you who could not attend the screenings of our latest video play, MULTI MEETS POLY: Multiculturalism and Polyculturalism Go On a First Date, it is now available for free online.

Multi Meets Poly is a thought-provoking and often-humorous reflection on the theoretical and practical differences between two vital social ideas: multiculturalism and polyculturalism.

Click HERE to watch Multi and Poly as they navigate their way through a socially awkward, intellectually riveting "first date." Run time: 34 minutes.

HOW TO ENGAGE MULTI MEETS POLY

Multi Meets Poly should not be viewed as entertainment so much as a theatricalized intellectual workout. It is not narrative storytelling in the traditional sense, but rather a rigorous and hopefully compelling exercise in probing two important ideas through a medium we call pedagogidrama.

Pedagogidrama is drama intended primarily as a teaching and learning tool. We are not asking you to be passive spectators when watching the piece, we are asking you to be engaged thinkers. It is more lean forward than it is lean back.

BOOK A SCREENING

Playwright Jamil Khoury is available to present a 75 - 90 minute program around Multi Meets Poly that includes an introduction to the ideas of multiculturalism and polyculturalism, a screening of the video play, and a conversation with the audience.

Universities, colleges, high schools, libraries, companies and corporations, faith groups, community organizations, and cultural institutions are all ideal venues for this program.
