Chicago Tribune

“This is what I say to those who have a fear of the unknown: come to this play,”

— Actor Christian Castro

The Chicago Tribune wrote about our upcoming play, Through the Elevated Line!

Featuring an interview with one of the play's actors, Christian Castro, the artist spoke about his personal connection to his characters and said, “to those who have a fear of the unknown: come to this.”

Castro reflected on his own trouble in the past in embracing his heritage, and he reflected on the importance of telling stories we often do not see or hear. The mission of Silk Road

Rising resonated with him, as shared that our theatre “tells the stories that are often not told on the bigger stages.” Learn more >>

“Everyone's story deserves to be told without bias,”

— Actor Christian Castro

The 'L' train gives us a vantage point to look at our ourselves and ask: Who rides along with us? Who do we count among our own? Will you ride the elevated line?
